Profile:

Anouar Hassoune is currently the Head of Research and Strategist for MENA at The Bank of Tokyo-Mitsubishi UFJ, and the driving force behind BTMU's Islamic Window. Prior to that, Anouar used to be a Vice President & Senior Credit Officer for Moody's Investors Service, one of the leading rating agencies globally. Before this position, he used to be a credit analyst at another well-known rating agency, namely Standard & Poor's. For both rating agencies, Anouar was responsible for the rating coverage of banks in the Middle East and North Africa, and served as global head of Islamic finance. Anouar co-founded several companies, including Hassoune Conseil (a consultancy in France), West Africa Rating Agency (in Senegal), and Euris Group (a holding company involved in Islamic finance out of Luxembourg). His academic background includes a master's degree in Business Administration from Paris-based HEC Business School, a master's degree in Political Science from the Paris Institute for Political Studies (Sciences Po Paris), a post-graduate degree in Economics from the University of Paris 1, as well as the "Agrégation" certification in Business and Finance earned at the French "Ecole Normale Supérieure". He teaches Islamic finance and applied economics within various leading Universities and Business Schools in France, including HEC and the University Paris Dauphine.
